J. A. CRUBAUGH DROPS DEAD AT SUGAR FACTORY

J. A. Crubaugh, a respected citizen of Janesville, dropped dead while engaged in his duties at the sugar beet factory Wednesday night. Mr. Crubaugh was just recovering from an attack of influenza, and in his weakened condition his death was probably due to heart failure.

Mr. Crubaugh was 49 years of age and had lived in this city for the past thirteen years. He resided at the home of his brother at 215 South River street. His death will be mourned by two brothers, J. W. Crubaugh and Fred Crubaugh, both of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Doty of this city and Mrs. Brown of Rome, Wis.

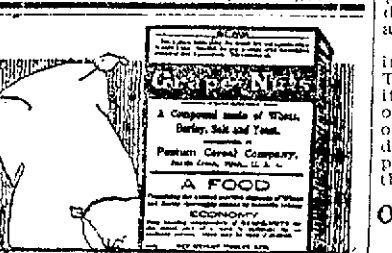

The body was taken to Ryan's undertaking parlors. The funeral will be held from Ryan's chapel. The exact time of the burial is not as yet decided, but will be announced later.

On sale at St. Joseph's Convent, identification cards and pocket folders for soldiers and sailors. Also numerous religious articles.

REV. SAMUEL KIDDER DIED ON WEDNESDAY

Word has been received of the death of Reverend Samuel Kidder, a Congregational minister who has preached in Janesville many times, having supplied the pulpit of the local church for several months at the conclusion of Reverend David Beatons' pastorate. Rev. Kidder also was pastor of the churches at Beloit and Evansville, and previous to that had churches at Fond du Lac, Ripon and Neenah and Menasha. He was seventy years of age. The funeral will be held on Friday, interment at Beloit.

WOMEN'S HOUSING COMMITTEE MEET

Held Meeting at Chamber of Commerce Office Yesterday Afternoon. Must be Prepared to House

Plans were outlined on yesterday at the meeting of the Women's Housing Committee held at the Chamber of Commerce, whereby systematic work will be done in listing available rooms and houses, for new comers into the city. Mrs. H. A. Ford, who is in charge of this committee held a consultation with her ward captains, and instructions were given by Mr. Green in regard to the work. He emphasized the fact that the work is to be done under the immediate jurisdiction of the government as represented by the U. S. Housing Bureau, and that the workers must be prepared and at the same time the morals of the community be safe guarded. Certain rules laid down by the federal authorities must be observed and only enough men will be allowed to come into Janesville to work, who can be adequately taken care of. The wife and children of the workers must also be taken care of, and to do so the city will be systematically canvassed and its resources listed. At present there are in the city about three thousand homes, and the number will probably have to be doubled in the near future, when the plans for the new factory materialize. Meantime the thought is emphasized by the Federal Bureau that the workers must be prepared to use their present facilities to the utmost.

In talking over plans with the ladies of the committee on yesterday, Mr. Green said that if the resources of the city were extended to care for the increased population, entailed by the new factory propositions, that the government might supply financial assistance, but that this would depend on the way its instructions were carried out in this housing proposition. After consultation by members of the committee it was decided that the workers should be housed until the health conditions of the city were improved. Then a meeting of the workers would be held at the library and the details of the work would be explained very thoroughly. The block system of making a canvass will be largely used, and the number of workers, will probably be increased to 150.

Out of the new cards gotten out by the government were on view and the different features of the items explained, so that the ladies will be familiar with details when necessary to explain them to others. Mrs. Ford is very anxious that all ladies who worked on the Liberty Loan Committee consider themselves as a part of this work, and do so something which the government has asked them to do, and all former members and others who can do so, are asked to volunteer for the work. Miss Rebecca Kehler, the new clerk in charge of the housing proposition, is busily engaged in going over the cards already secured, and bringing them down to date. She will also spend all her time on the housing proposition, and have a fund of information available for any one who needs her services.

ARRAIGNED IN COURT FOR CHICKEN THEFT

William Woodke and Archie Gester of the town of Lima, were arraigned before Judge Maxfield yesterday afternoon to answer a charge of the theft of a chicken valued at one dollar from M. L. Saxe also of the town of Lima. The men were taken into court at two o'clock yesterday afternoon and immediately entered pleas of not guilty. The hearing set for November 5th, at ten o'clock.

FRANK MARTIN AMONG LISTS OF WOUNDED

Word has been received in this city by Miss Anna Nielson, 315 S. Franklin St., advising her that Private Frank Martin of Co. A, 23th Inf., was severely wounded in action on July 21st. Private Martin was a city boy, a member of Co. M, and left this city with that organization when they were called into federal service. He was one of the first members of the company, having enlisted on April 1, 1917. No additional information was given in the telegram as to Private Martin's condition, and the extent of his injuries. Private Martin was born in Neenah, Wis., but has spent the most of his life in Janesville, being employed on the Janesville street cars. His many friends will be grieved to learn of his accident.

FIND ONE SLACKER IN EAST PORTER DRIVE

In the following item relative to the Fourth Liberty loan it will be noted that but one "slacker" has been reported and it is expected he will be dealt with by county and state authorities. "The Fourth Liberty loan went over in old East Porter with flying colors. This region is to be congratulated for its patriotic men and women. Not one failed to come across. One case of yellow, accompanied with low-bred discounting, was disclosed in the south part of the town. Their names are in the hands of the committee."

Two applications for marriage licenses were received at the office of the county clerk this morning. Robert P. Peschl applied for a license to wed Gertrude M. Mason. Both parties are from Beloit.

MORE CONTRIBUTIONS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED

Seventy six dollars was received at the office of the Chamber of Commerce this morning for the relief of the stricken people who suffered from the Minnesota great freeze. One fifty dollar contribution and one twenty-five dollar contribution were anonymous and one dollar was received from Charles Stevens.

CHICAGO MARKETS
Chicago, Oct. 24.—A scramble for beef to fill government orders advanced cattle with that qualification 25¢.

Yenacious buyers asserted that their purchases were $2 per cwt above the low spot last week.

A few loads of good bullocks arrived and sold without hogging, the high point of the year, $12.60, being reinstated. The $10@14 grades were $1.60 per cwt higher than last week, owing to feeder competition. Western cattle at $16.50@17.75 showed a 75¢ gain for the week.

The western beef crop is practically in and the visible supply of corn-fed cattle does not exceed 50 per cent of that of a year ago. At present $1.10 under the $15.50 government minimum.

Early in the season good hogs sold steady at Tuesday's average, $17.65 being paid early, but these closed 25c lower, packing hogs which were offered at $14 being unsalable. An accumulation of about 15,000 is playing havoc with country buyers and local operators, who have been heavy losers on the break. Packers hint that when the Washington conference had acted the accumulation would be cleared.

A run of 15,000 cattle carries 5,000 westerns. Anything decent was 26c higher, some sales being 40c higher. Steers, outside a few choice lots, have advanced 5¢ to 2.50 this week and are firm on that basis.

Choice to prime steers $18.75@19.60 cattle are making good gains in the feed lot, consequently, now that feeders' fears of a slump on peace expectancy have been dissipated, there is a disposition to hold.

Feeders enter market. Feeders have come into the market, creating lively competition in light stuff, and there is ground for the prediction that low prices for the season were unobtainable last week.

Western cattle have been marketed early and apprehension exists that there will not be enough weighty cattle to satisfy export and military requirements.

While packers, growers and food administration officials conferred on hog market control, at Washington, the market suffered from semi-paralysis. Eastern prices were 25c@ $1 lower than here.

The stock yards resemble a feeding station rather than a market under present conditions. Good packing hogs at $14.50@15 and 50c to good to choice steers . . . 16.75@18.75

Medium to good steers . . . 14.75@16.75

Good to choice calves . . . 15.00@16.25

A supply of 10,000 hogs was hand-capped by a state stock of 16,000, most of which were carried over, packing hogs, much of the accumulation not getting a bid.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been engaged for over a year. My fiancé was put in a deferred class because he is in a war industry. To tell the truth I was disappointed in him to think that he was not eager to go to war to do his part.

We have not been getting along very well together lately. I thought I would die about him and I cried all night long. The next night he came over and said he wanted me. I asked him to remain engaged. I consented and for two nights he came along with me. But the last time he came over we disagreed so that we broke our engagement. Now I just the same way, I do not sleep and I am waiting all the time for him to call or for him to win him back again?

BROKEN-HEARTED. It will be broken for you not to see each other for a few weeks or months. In that time you will find out more definitely if you are deeply in love or not. If you will never see him again, force yourself to be brave and optimistic and soon you will be happy without an engagement. Do not condemn the man for remaining on his job here in America. He is doing very necessary work or he would not be deferred. The country needs the products from war industries just as much as it needs its soldiers. If a man is working conscientiously and to the best of his ability he is not by any means a slacker.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a fellow steadily for three months. He told me many times that he loved me, and I loved him dearly. Sometimes on Sunday he took me to his home and we spent the evening with his parents. His mother was awfully nice to me. She invited me to come again. He asked me to marry him and I promised I would. We have the date for our wedding and I have bought everything I need. He knows all about the things I have bought. For two weeks now he has not come to see me and I don't know what to think or what to do. Shall I write and ask him the reason why he does not come? He lives in the country about six or seven miles from here. The last time he was over he said a cross word to hurt the other's feelings.

I have a chance to go with another fellow from a different town. I was introduced to him not very long ago. Shall I try my chance or shall I find out the reason about the other fellow?

WORRIED GIRL. Find out why your fiancé does not come to see you. Write a pleasant note asking why you have not seen him for two weeks' time. He may be sick or have some very good reason for playing away. If he is trying to break the engagement by dropping out, be thankful that you have learned his character before it was too late. A man who drops the girl he is engaged to without an explanation is dishonorable and cruel. I hardly think he is staying away intentionally.

DOUBTFUL. Write to the soldier. He is so lonely and in need of letters that he is seeking a girl with whom to correspond, you will be doing a service if you write.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How can I entertain a handsome gentleman friend? It seems as though I cannot find anything to do and I don't like to show every Saturday and Wednesday night when he comes. BETTY. Read a book together, or if you prefer, short stories. This will keep your evenings busy quickly and will furnish entertainment. There is little else a girl can do when conversation is difficult. Once in a while you could make candy with maple syrup. To use sugar would be unpatriotic.

Household Hints

MENU HINT.

Breakfast. Oat Flakes, Top Milk, Corn Muffins, Coffee.
Luncheon. Eggs Served on Potato Balls, Browned in Oven, Rye Bread, Apple Butter, Milk.
Dinner. Mutton, Green Beans, Potatoes, One-Dish Meal, Fruit Salad, Barley Muffins, Coffee.

THREE GOOD DESSERTS.

Banana Sauce Dessert.—Prepare this dessert in three ways, the foundation being the same. It is called "banana sauce."

No. 1.—To one-half cupful of granulated sugar add one and one-half cups of water. When boiling thicken with one heaping tablespoon of cornstarch. When cold (just before serving) add the juice of a small lemon, two bananas sliced very small and a few drops of pink fruit coloring (same as used for cake frosting). With a fork beat all thoroughly until smooth. It is then ready to serve.

No. 2.—Use sugar, water and cornstarch as before. Instead of lemon juice, add one-half of a small pineapple (put through the food chopper) and bananas as above. Coloring can be omitted as this only adds to appearance, not to flavor.

No. 3.—Add the yolk of one egg to sugar (same as other recipes); if too dry, add a few drops of water. Beat thoroughly, then add one and one-half cups water; boil and thicken with cornstarch. When cold add lemon juice and sliced banana. Beat all thoroughly until smooth. If banana is not available, use apple sauce and fold lightly into sauce. If banana is very ripe, they are fine crushed and beaten with the white of egg.

Carrot Pudding.—One and one-half cups flour, one cup sugar, one cup silt, two cups raisins, one cup grated raw potato, one cup raw carrots, grated, one teaspoon soda, a little salt. Steam three hours.

Eclectic Lemon Pie.—Pie that is very good—grated rind and juice of two lemons, one cup cold water, one cup sugar, one grated raw Irish potato. Bake with single crust and strips of dough across top.

THE TABLE.
Bran Doughnuts.—One pint sour milk, one and one-half cups sugar, one egg, one-half cup nut meats, one teaspoon soda dissolved in the milk, one-half nutmeg sifted with one-half teaspoon salt, two cups barley flour. Stir all together, then stir in enough bran to make a soft dough. Cover lightly, paper with plenty of bran and this and roll one-half inch thick; cut into strips one and one-half inches wide and three long. Cut each piece through center so they will cook quickly. Drop into hot fat and cook brown. Remove from fat with wire spoon.

Purifies. Highly antiseptic. Used as a curative agent for all external skin troubles. Conceals permanent blemishes and reduces unnatural color. Ideal for correcting greasy skins.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HELP

We find you can bring out the beauty of your hair to its very best advantage by washing it with Canthrox. It makes a very simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff, dirt and excess oil, leaving a wonderfully clean, wholesome feeling. After its use, you will find that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is never streaked in appearance and is always bright, soft and fluffy; so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. Just use a teaspoonful of Canthrox, which you can get from any good druggist, dissolve it in a cup of hot water; this makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. advertisement.

THE STRUGGLE

TRUTH AND MYTH.

The week-ends at the Ferrol home became periods of intense work on the part of Edith and Miss Selden, who came down Friday afternoons and stayed till Monday morning, re-writing with Edith "The Question of Life."

The Ferrol children caught the spirit of the work and the parents and the "nice Miss Selden" showed in the book that was being created under their roof.

For was it long before the children sensed the theme of the book. The Ferrols did not believe in keeping the children out of satisfying, every healthy curiosity-arousing event that occurred. When nine-year-old Virginia asked the inevitable questions, the Ferrols and Miss Selden told her, according to the story in the book.

The result was that sex education precipitated itself into Arcadia long before the Ferrols dreamed it would be. Out of the mouths of neighbor children came questions which the parents did not know how to answer—and blamed the Ferrols for their dilemma.

It happened one afternoon when Edith and Miss Selden were at their work. They heard the approach of excited children's voices, the confused tramp of little feet. The next moment the two Ferrol children and those of a neighbor burst in excitedly.

"Scuse us, mother and Miss Selden," young Virginia Ferrol cried, "but we want you to tell us who's right! Winnie and Roy say their father is a lawyer and knows more than you do. And he told Winnie and Roy a whole lot of silly things about babies being found under cabbage or brought from fairyland by a stork or something. We told Winnie and Roy the story about the answers and pollen and tell that, in Miss Selden's book. Winnie and Roy say we're crazy. But we know we're right, mother. It's so much more sensible mother. Aren't we right?" And the kiddies stood looking eagerly, wide-eyed and

ANALYSIS OF PEP

Originally the source of "pep" is metabolism. Metabolism is the process that constitutes life. Water, food and oxygen are taken into the body, mysteriously worked upon the greatest of chemical laboratories, with more or less formation of waste matter, heat and by products, to keep the human machine running and to keep it in good repair so that it will give efficient and lasting service. Food is fuel, burned in the body (in the tissues, by the body cells) to supply the energy required to do functional work, muscular work and brain work. This is combustion just as the explosions of gas in the cylinders of an automobile mean combustion. Timing, cooling, exhaust, and the right mixture of fuel, and oxygen are quite as necessary in the human machine as in the automobile. The ignition, too, must be perfect if the best service is to be had from the machine in either case. The spark is the spark of the automobile is electricity. The spark in the millions of combustion chambers of the body (in the tissue cells) is the internal secretion of the thyroid and adrenal glands. These glands in their functional integrity determine every individual's pep. The ferment-like substances constantly poured by these glands into the blood-stream and so distributed to every tissue and every cell in the body control or regulate ignition and thus determine the degree and rate of metabolism.

Our climate, with its remarkable and sudden changes of weather, is the greatest blessing to our arms today. For it is Nature's own contribution to American and Canadian pep. Nice, sunny climates without sudden changes of weather, predispose to physical and mental hebetude.

We know from scientific study that many factors impair the integrity of the ductless glands that secrete pep. Everybody knows the name of these glands. Over-eating more than enough to maintain normal weight; failure to take daily general exercises—for exercise is essential for complete combustion and elimination of waste and by-products; codding—wearing anything not really necessary for physical (not alone for comfort); moderate indulgence in alcohol, tobacco and other drugs; emotional excesses, especially before the shrine of Venus; confinement in foul air, which is air heated over 68 degrees Fahrenheit and kept as still as possible; exhausting bacterial infections such as typhoid fever, pneumonia, septicemia and influenza; or acting these factors kill pep.

TODAY'S PRAYER.

One prayer rises night and day from our lonely, longing hearts to Thee, O Almighty Ruler of the universe; save our boys from hurt of body or stain of soul, and give victory to their arms; if any fall, if they be at peace with Thee, to win the promised reward of good soldiers of Jesus Christ. Prepare us, for that thou art preparing for; and make us able to accept Thy holy will for us and ours as best for two worlds. Amen.

NO LET-UP.

There is going to be no let-up in this nation's time of preparation for war. Already calls have gone forth for thousands, yes hundreds of thousands, more men between the ages of eighteen and forty-six, to enter the service. Just why there is not a revision of the original draft and some of the men in that class are not reclassified, so that the more mature citizens are not called into service as quickly is a problem that the individual draft boards must solve.

The men who are slackers today can look for small favors in the years to come when this war is finished and the boys who have actually done "their bit" return. The stay-at-homes on some excuse or other who have taken good jobs may find the pathway of their lives is not all roses. When you take four million or more young men out from the midst of our various communities, you leave an aching void that must be filled.

This void is being filled by women and older men and—it is sorry to relate—by slackers, men who never even attempted to do their bit. When the boys come home they will want their places back. The talk of placing them on farms is absurd. Men accustomed to the office in pre-war days are not going to be content with manual labor and some of these "slackers" will have to give up their places for the returned fighting men.

Meanwhile Uncle Sam says that even if the line was peace in Bulgaria and Hungary are making pretenses at seeking safety, if Bulgaria is tired of war and Turkey ready to quit, the United States is going to be ready and more men are being rushed to the training camps as fast as they can be entrained. One contingent left Janesville on Tuesday, another left today, more will follow. The fact that the United States is bound to be the policeman of the world when this war is over, has not really dawned on the individual citizen.

Not until our khaki-clad soldiers, (and some of them will be from Rock county) are walking their heels in Berlin and other German cities, will this world's peace be secure. Germany scoffed at the United States when the first talk of war being declared between this nation and the Imperial government; now they beg us to intercede for peace for them with France and England and Belgium. Our answer is to call for more men to go into military training camps. That is sufficient.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION.

To fit young people to make their way in the world, careful work with the spelling book and with penmanship, something lacking in our local schools, is needed. Many of the most successful men are exceedingly poor writers, and they may be poor spellers. But for the average person, bad handwriting and spelling give such an impression of illiteracy as to be a distinct handicap. Let the school authorities try the Three "R's" a few years and note the result.

Penmanship instruction is often not practical. Some systems lay great stress on ability to write fast. Book-keepers and accountants need to write fast, but to most other people the important thing is not speed, but to write memoranda and brief notes so as to be clearly legible, and give an impression of business competence. To spend a long time teaching the man who is going to run a machine, or the girl to run a typewriter, to write rapidly with the hand, is highly impractical.

Many of the most difficulties we meet in community life are due to the fact that the young people have never been educated up to the principles of social science. They have not learned the basic principles that lead to civic prosperity and advancement.

The first principle of social science, is that we are all members of a community, the progress and success of which depend upon the existence among all of its members, of a spirit of co-operation and community effort. Many of our towns never go ahead, because the people never learned to co-operate, and never acquired any civic and community spirit.

One of the most important and practical things the young folks have to learn in school, is just this truth of civics. They need to know something about community life, what makes some towns go ahead and others stationary, how we must all take hold and work for public causes.

AN APPRECIATION:

Gentlemen of the Gazette:

With reference to the Fourth Liberty Loan, it is impossible adequately to express the appreciation for all the assistance that has been so patriotically rendered in Rock county by both men and women, chairmen and other members of committees, captains and team workers, and people generally, including purchasers of bonds.

Speaking for Janesville, and with special reference to the publicity work, we ought to mention the billboard companies, including Mr. Fred Blakeley, the displays in the office of the Janesville Electric company by the pupils of the English department in the freshman and sophomore classes of the high school. Last, but not by any means least, particular mention should be made of the assistance of the Gazette, in its editorial, news and advertising departments, the personnel of which have responded enthusiastically and promptly to every request made for assistance.

The following are the names of manufacturers and retail business firms of Janesville which contributed liberal amounts for the purchase of display advertising space in the Gazette at reduced Liberty Loan rates as provided by the Gazette, which space was used by the publicity committee to promote the campaign for the sale of Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds:

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

—ROY E. MOULTON

THE GLADDEST DAY.

Must children die and mothers suffer pain? Must innocents forever suffer pain? Must millions more by German brutes be slain, ere come deliverance from cruel foe? Must ever echo hopeless, helpless? Must even means of stricken ones arise? Will never war's red torch desert the skies and peace again earth's bleeding nations know? Even now appears the mighty heaven ordained, who on the borders of hell have vengeance rained, and glory everlasting will have gained when to disaster Hundom'simps they send. The hour has struck when day shall conquer night, when what is good shall route the rule of might, when tyrants all shall fall in final fight and those who launched the war be made to pay. Be made to pay and pay a million times, be made to pay in full for endless crimes, while far and wide shall echo loud the claims that ring Germania's doom—earth's gladdest day.

LEND IT.

There's the man behind the gun
And the man behind the hoe,
But another must get busy.
He's the man behind the dough.

If the Liberty loan campaign keeps up long enough everybody will hear Caruso. Even war has its brightest moments.

The couple were married at the home of the bride's parents, where they will remain until the bridegroom gets a job.—Centralia (Mo.) Courier.

Now comes the fuel administration declaring that it did not instruct apartment house owners not to start fires until Nov. 1. Now, who on earth could have started that little rumor? One guess. You're right.

The ship that really took all our soldiers over to France was the Lusitania.

The war has accomplished another good. According to the Kansas City "Star" it has entirely eliminated the wandering seller of enlarged crayon portraits.

"THAT SQUARES IT." "It is awful that gingham is fifty and sixty cents a yard," wailed the country woman. "It used to be ten and twelve cents." "Yes," replied the city woman, "and squashes used to be ten and twelve cents apiece. I paid forty cents for one this morning."

All drafted men who have received their questionnaires are advised to have their pictures taken, is the cheery little advertisement of a local photographer.

William S. Hart and Douglas Fairbanks are both registrants in the new draft. No wonder the Kaiser is anxious for peace.

My idea of no sort of a job is to be the first German commercial traveler to come to America after the war.

Wausau.—Benjamin A. Molter of Wausau, in the aviation section of the U. S. Signal corps, has been promoted to a captaincy. Capt. Molter was a member of the famous Lafayette squadron in France before the United States entered the war, and of which there are only three remaining survivors.

The Farm Mortgage As An Investment

The history of the farm loan field for the past years has been that the interest and principal payments have been paid with the same regularity as Government Bonds. In the reports of the large loaning companies and in a survey of organizations, who are large investors in Farm Loans, the delinquent interest is practically nothing and foreclosures have become so rare as to be a matter of much notoriety in the community where they occur.

The Farm Mortgage has become so standardized and established on a safe working basis that it is simply a matter of expansion to give large service to the farmer and to the Nation's food production. You can obtain these high grade securities from us in amounts from $100 upwards. They are safe, they are large producing, and they are a patriotic investment. Your business solicited.

DIFFERENCE

"Bill" says he to me, "thinks seem different today.
An' I'm different, an' you're different in a curious sort o' way.
There's nothing much that matters save the money we could make.
An' the joys that we could gather for our own an' family's sake.
But we've done a lot o' thinking since the day of the war began.
An' we've learned the other fellow is a most important man."

"Time was I thought my pleasures was my only one concern.
But the longer we are livin' now, I guess the more we learn.
In the old days I'd the notion that my duty was to save.
Just to buy myself a tombstone an' a decent sort o' grave.
But I've changed my views on money an' I've come to see, today,
That the finest of my dollars are the ones I give away."

"In the old days life was easy; we could either come or go.
When they took up contributions folks expected we'd say no.
We could work or loaf as pleased us, we were little people then,
Though we somehow had the notion that we were really big men.
Then we left the heavy burdens to the other man to bear;
Now we couldn't hold our heads up if we didn't do our share."

"Bill," says he to me, "when the boys come home at last
With the victory they're gone for, an' the fighting days are past,
A bigger, better people they will cast their eyes upon
With their petty thoughts all vanished an' their selfishness all gone.
An' I'm glad it's so, this minute for they'd scorn our words o' praise
If they learned that while they suffered, we had kept our narrow ways."

SHORTAGE OF NURSES

Serious Shortage of Nurses Confronts
Doctors. May Obtain Flu Serum
From Mayo Brothers at Rochester

Cases reported Tuesday, 578.
Cases on Wednesday, 351.
Total cases reported, 811.
With thirty-five new cases of Spanish Influenza reported yesterday,
without the reports of two of Janes-ville's leading doctors, every precaution taken by the citizens today, to combat the disease. There are now a total of 811 cases of the disease in this city.

Meeting of the retail merchants
of the city, was held at the office of the Chamber of Commerce this morning at ten o'clock, at which it was decided to open the stores of the city at five in the morning, with the exception of Saturdays, when the stores will remain open until nine o'clock in the evening. The measure is effective at once.

The only exceptions to this order
are that the grocery stores and butcher shops will open at seven in the morning and close at five in the afternoon. The only stores not affected by the measure are the drug stores and restaurants. It is impossible to close the restaurants, as it is necessary to accommodate the people of the city who are in the places.
A meeting of the liquor dealers Association is to be held sometime during the afternoon, and according to a statement issued by Tim McKeligue and Thomas Abbott this morning, it is certain that the saloons will also observe the same hours and will also remain closed on Saturday evenings.
Since Sunday, the disease has been
rapidly increasing, and at the present
time there is a shortage of nurses in the city. The matter has been referred to Madison and Milwaukee, and it is thought that nurses will be sent to
the city.

F. J. Green, of the Chamber of Commerce, who was in consultation
with Doctor Joseph Stoen, of Rochester, over the long distance telephone this morning, and Doctor Harper
stated that steps should be taken at once
to stem the increase of the epidemic.
The Chamber of Commerce has already taken the matter of obtaining serum with Doctor Rosenow of Mayo Brothers' hospital at Rochester, and it is hoped that some of the serum can
be secured for use in this city.
Doctor Buckmaster, who is confined to his home with the disease, stated
this morning, that while the disease is increasing in this city, there is no cause for the people to become panic stricken. He requests that the citizens refrain from congregating in clubs, on the streets or in private residences, and he also stated
that although the doctors are working night and day, that he is sure that they have the situation well in hand
and that with the aid of additional nurses that the situation will soon
become better.

The measure adopted by the retail merchants in every city in the city, with the exception of the restaurants and drug stores. All cigar stores and barber shops and other places where men congregate will observe the same hours.

A meeting of the pool hall owners of the city was held at the Chamber
of Commerce at one-thirty o'clock,
at which they voted to observe the
same hours as the retail stores in regard to their cigar and soda water
stands, and further voted to keep their pool and billiard tables covered
with the epidemic.

Doctor Harper stated this afternoon
over the long distance telephone that
under no consideration should more
than ten people be allowed to congregate in any store at one time. He stated that this was particularly so in
saloons, cigar stores and pool halls.

WAR CHEST FUND IS PUT TO USE AGAIN

M. P. Richardson, Chairman of the Rock County Council of Defense, has received from Governor Philipp, the
call upon the State to raise $50,000.00
to relieve the destitution in the neighborhood of Stoughton, which was caused by the disastrous fire which destroyed 31 towns, devastated between 3,000 to 4,000 square miles of country,
caused the death of 10,000 people and
rendered 10,000 people homeless.
900 of whom are refugees in the city
of Superior.

The Governor made the request that Rock county immediately raise a fair share of this $50,000.00 which amounts to about $1,500.00, and suggest
that, inasmuch as Rock County has
a war fund, that amount be appropriated from this fund.
This matter was immediately taken
up with the Executive Committee of the War Fund, and the Committee
authorized this appropriation without further delay. The County Council of Defense would endeavor
to have the same repaid to the War
Fund through the County Board.

The money is already on the way
to relieve the suffering caused by this great fire. This matter is another instance showing the great benefit of
having such a fund in case of emergency. Each of the 22,000 people who contributed to this fund are parties to
this great relief work. While technically, this object is not exactly
within the purposes for which the fund is raised, yet it is within the spirit of this great charitable enterprise, and the man or woman who

Since Sunday, the disease has been
rapidly increasing, and at the present
time there is a shortage of nurses in
the city. The matter has been referred
to Madison and Milwaukee, and it
is thought that nurses will be sent to
the city.

F. J. Green, of the Chamber of Commerce, who was in consultation
with Doctor Joseph Stoen, of Rochester, over the long distance telephone this morning, and Doctor Harper
stated that steps should be taken at once
to stem the increase of the epidemic.

is hoped that some of the serum can
be secured for use in this city.

Doctor Buckmaster, who is confined

this morning, that while the disease is increasing in this city, there
is no cause for the people to be-

that the citizens refrain from congre-
gating in clubs, on the streets or in
that although the doctors are working

they have the situation well in hand
and that with the aid of additional
nurses that the situation will soon
become better.

The measure adopted by the retail
merchants in every city in the

of the city was held at the Chamber
of Commerce at one-thirty o'clock,
at which they voted to observe the
same hours as the retail stores in regard to their cigar and soda water
stands, and further voted to keep
their pool and billiard tables covered
with the epidemic.

Doctor Harper stated this afternoon
over the long distance telephone that
under no consideration should more
than ten people be allowed to congre-
gate in any store at one time. He stated that this was particularly so in
saloons, cigar stores and pool halls.

WAR CHEST FUND IS PUT TO USE AGAIN

M. P. Richardson, Chairman of the Rock County Council of Defense, has received from Governor Philipp, the
call upon the State to raise $50,000.00
to relieve the destitution in the neighborhood of Stoughton, which was
caused by the disastrous fire which destroyed 31 towns, devastated between
3,000 to 4,000 square miles of country,
caused the death of 10,000 people and
rendered 10,000 people homeless.
900 of whom are refugees in the city
of Superior.

The Governor made the request that Rock county immediately raise a
fair share of this $50,000.00 which
amounts to about $1,500.00, and suggest
that, inasmuch as Rock County has
a war fund, that amount be appropriated from this fund.
This matter was immediately taken
up with the Executive Committee of
the War Fund, and the Committee
authorized this appropriation without further delay. The County Council of Defense would endeavor
to have the same repaid to the War
Fund through the County Board.

The money is already on the way
to relieve the suffering caused by this great fire. This matter is another instance showing the great benefit of
having such a fund in case of emergency. Each of the 22,000 people who contributed to this fund are parties to
this great relief work. While technically, this object is not exactly
within the purposes for which the
fund is raised, yet it is within the
spirit of this great charitable enterprise, and the man or woman who would object to the use of $1,500.00 from this fund for the relief of the sufferers would indeed be misanthropic.

ENTERTAIN SELECTS AT BREAKFAST HERE

Refreshed by a good hot breakfast, and cheered by the kind wishes of many patriotic people of Janesville, about nine hundred selected men from the various military and naval departments of the United States, and from Minnesota, were entertained at breakfast this morning, and sent on their way rejoicing.

Coming as they did into the warmth and cheer of the brightly lighted rooms after their all night ride, they were in a position to appreciate the sympathetic ministrations of the men and women who ministered to their comfort. The odor of hot coffee and frying sausages brought a cheer from the men as they filed into the dining room and seated themselves at the attractively laid tables. A bright red apple and a Janesville postcard was laid at each plate, and the latter were posted free of charge by those in attendance after their guests were seated.

The Y. M. C. A. building the Samuels Sisters offered to defray the cost of the stamps for this contingent, and for those expected tomorrow. The contingent was a happy lot of lads many of them seeming to have come from the farms and smaller towns of the state. The contingent who came at seven o'clock were from Minnesota and those in the eight o'clock bunch were from the different counties in northern Wisconsin.

At the places the men were given cigarettes, and they left the rooms by members of the canteen committee of the Red Cross, Mrs. Avery, Miss Josephine Carl and Father William Beloit in charge.

At the Y building the tables were laid ber at eight o'clock. Refreshing High Mass was

FORMER RESIDENTS OF JANESVILLE DIE

Dear Gazette: As a measure of passing time, and of the dropping out of a link connecting the past with the present, it may be of interest to some of the survivors of the pioneer families of Janesville to learn of the death of two former residents.
Ellen Holt, widow of Charles Holt, who with Levi Alden, founded the Daily Gazette in 1859, died in Culver,
Ind., at the home of her son, Arthur
Holt, on April 12, 1918.
She was 72 years of age. Clarence E. Holt, the younger of the two sons, editor
and principal stockholder of the Kan-saskie, Ill. Daily Gazette, died at the age of 87 on August 20th last.

In the death of Leslie R. Treat, the only remaining chum of the boyhood days of my native town, passed away,
though Sutherland of the book store,
Charley Atwood of Jackson street, Johnnie Rexford (if he is living) and Julia Wilson will remember me.

hill back of the court house, the scene edge, and the Gazette office the keeper, Charley Church, Foreman

in 1854 for Quincy, Ill. from there they went to Kankakee, Ill. in 1858.

ville her home for a number of years.
Miss Willis' life work was music teaching, as she was an accomplished musician. For the past seven years she has lived at the home of her father, her mother having died previous to that time. Her death will be mourned by a host of friends as she was a kind and thoughtful friend. She was an

CHAPTER VII.

In Sidi-bel-Abbes there is a pleasant avenue, shaded by silver birch and red-oak, where the local potentates gather in a select exclusive circle. In the courtyard of one such of these houses Colonel Destin sat and smoked an after-dinner cigarette. His kept lay on the broad balustrade beside him, and his head was thrown back in an attitude of easy contentment.

"You pour out tea charmingly, madame," he said. "A second cup would still the last regret that I should have gone so far against my principles as to drink a first."

She looked up at him. The soft reflection from the low, white walls around them enhanced her ethereal beauty and added the subtle glamour with which the eastern light surrounds the least and most lovely object. Very delicately she obeyed his request, the soft, rich face of her tongue slipping back to reveal the rounded arch and slender over-fragile wrist.

"Do your principles compel you to live only for your soldiers?" she asked lightly.

"Living for them" is perhaps too much of a euphemism," he said. "They would be more grateful if I did the other thing. But otherwise it is true. I have not put my foot under a hospitable roof for twenty years."

"Had you no one who—?" She hesitated, a sudden color in her cheeks, and he leaned forward, his hands loosely interlocked between his knees, his handsome, ruthless face grave and intent.

"No, I hadn't anyone, Madame Ar-

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, pale lips, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, head-aches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

A thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—and then just to keep the complexion of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

RED BLOODED MEN WIN OUT

They Are Always on Top In Every Walk of Life

It is a fact that red blooded men and women are at the top in every walk of life. Men and women who are the driving force of red blood, rich in iron and phosphates do things, they get results.

Red blooded women are the heads of the household and most contented, they have the will and the desire to be companions and helpmates.

Leadership and happiness is only for the men and women who are willing to have their blood and nerves strengthened and nourished with iron and phosphates.

A prominent doctor says, "It is a crime that so many men and women lack the rich, red blood and strong steady nerve to achieve their ambitions. It is a crime because now this, watery blood is unnecessary, as rich, red blood and strong nerves are the basis of the life of everyone. Phosphated Iron makes pure blood by making new blood. It gives strength, brings color to the cheeks, drives away the blues and those sleepless nights, and renews your nervous energy, makes you feel like a live one once again."

There must be something to it. Everyone who tries it is told in praise of Phosphated Iron, and you have got to show people these days.

To insure physicians and their patients receive the genuine Phosphated Iron, do not allow dealers to give you pills or tablets. Insist on capsules.

naud." Her gaze faltered under his steady, piercing eyes.

"What is your country, Colonel Destin?"

"I do not know, madame. I have forgotten." There was a little silence, in which the fountain played a silvery intermezzo, and then he went on in an altered tone: "You are the first person who has made wish to remember."

She was looking up at him again with a studied frankness, behind which lurked something hypnotized, fascinated.

He turned carelessly from her.

"Ah, Arnaud, you there? You see, I have been breaking up the principles of years to entertain your wife. If you leave her too much alone you will find these English roses fade very quickly in this dreary place. Man, don't look as if you had seen the devil."

The young officer, hesitating on the edge of the low veranda, recovered himself with an effort.

"My colonel—I was taken back. I had not expected—but I am delighted and most honored. I beg of you to let me enjoy the pleasure."

"No, no, Arnaud. We see enough of each other elsewhere, and, moreover, I have a pressing engagement with three deserters from the Eleventh company. Au revoir, madame—and thank you."

He lifted her hand to his lips, his eyes still on her face, and, returning Arnaud's salute, strode across the sunlit courtyard and disappeared into the shadows. Husband and wife watched him in silence. Then Arnaud gave a short, half-laughing laugh.

"When the devil goes abroad it is usually to some purpose," he said. "How did he come here?"

"I invited him."

"He had not called on you."

She shrugged her shoulders prettily. "That was just what made me do it. I was bored and lonely, and bored and lonely people are bound to do something mad."

"You are very often bored, Sylvia."

"Yes," she agreed. "But does that mean I am very often mad?"

He looked up at her, his pale eyes full of moody wistfulness. "How much can happen in a year where a woman is concerned. A year ago you would not have been bored, Sylvia. You thought that there was no more lovely place on earth than Sidi-bel-Abbes, and that there was no other man for you than myself. Now you are restless and discontented. You hate the place and—perhaps your husband." The last words broke from him with a petulant violence. It was the irritable accusation of a man who does not believe what he is saying and expects contradiction. None came. Sylvia Arnaud's fair head was still bent over her flowers. He sprang upright, his face ashy with passion. "Do you hate me, Sylvia?" he stammered. She lifted her eyes for a moment, but not to him. In their brown, velvety depths there were pathos and melancholy infinitely touching.

"You a Traitor! Why?"

"Oh, no, I don't hate you, Desire," she said in her soft voice. "I have never hated anyone. But you don't understand. How should you? You are a man, and not even a man of my own race. Women are so different. They live in such a narrow circle. Desire, and their dreams are everything to them. They hold up ideals for themselves, and the whole world is glorified in their eyes. How natural when a man comes to them they should hail him as the consummation of all they hoped and fancied—how natural that they should wake up one day and find the glorious world a desert and their idols shattered forever."

"Have I done that?" She made no answer, and he sprang at her and seized her by the wrist in a paroxysm of excitement. "Have I done that? Am I the broken idol?"

She released herself with gentle decision from his desperate grasp.

"It's too late, Desire," she said sadly. "When a man breaks a woman's faith it is always beyond repair."

She moved away from him to the curtained door leading into the house, but he sprang after her, barring her path, his eyes pleading and full of a worship that might have touched her.

"Sylvia, I will do anything. I have been thinking—the Second regiment is ordered to Tonkin. Shall I exchange? It will give you fresh surroundings—fresh society. The climate isn't bad now. Or shall I get leave—I shall take you to England for a month—two months—or we shall travel!"

She flushed suddenly.

"It is not necessary. I do not want to take you from your duty."

His hand dropped from the curtain. Beneath the half-closed eyelids there flickered two dangerous points of light.

"In other words, you won't attempt to bridge the gulf that has come between us—at your wish, as I verily believe. Very well, whatever happens—on your head be it."

He turned away, and for a moment she hesitated, looking back at him like a child endeavoring to penetrate the meaning of some vague threat of the future. Then the curtains fell softly behind her.

Sidi-bel-Abbes has two great streets running north to south and east to west. In between are the little forgotten byways, unknown to the great ones who saunter about the Place Carre not listening to the band, or take their absinthe on the gaudily decorated cafes of the Algerian boulevards. None the less these unsuspected byways exist. They are very narrow and very dirty.

On the border of this region lies the Cafe du Tonkin. It is comparatively respectable, and occasionally a tourist or newly arrived official under escort makes his appearance in the bar in order to acquaint himself with what he conceives to be the "real thing."

Therefore when Capt. Desire Arnaud sauntered along the narrow, evil-smelling street he attracted little notice, the more so as dusk had already set in and deepened the eternal shadows to a concealing darkness. Captain Arnaud entered the unguarded doorway. He was evidently on a serious errand, for he did not appear again. Instead, some ten minutes later a man in ragged, ill-fitting clothes lurched out on to the pavement and slunk on deeper into the labyrinth of alleys and lightless passages. He wore a broad-brimmed hat pulled well over his eyes and a bunch of roses stuck in his half-open coat. He chose a narrow passage running between two empty houses, and felt his way over the uneven flags, his hands touching either wall to keep him from stumbling. The music sounded nearer. Abruptly the passage twisted into an open square, dimly lighted, and the music became a deafening discord of voices. The contrast after the dark eastern reticence of the region behind him was bizarre and brutal. Red lanterns had been strung across from one low-roofed house to another, and their soft light fell on a scene which might have been painted from a wild dream of Montmartre. The place was full. Long tables built a rough semicircle round a central table, laden with empty bottles and chipped, wine-stained glasses. On a free corner a woman sat with folded arms and sang. Her voice was rough and feelingless, but it harmonized with what surrounded her—it was like a shriller note of the red-tinted atmosphere, or the articulate spirit of the madness which caught up the refrain and yelled it back to her in drunken triumph. She sang the "Marseillaise," her splendid eyes fixed on the red, white and blue strip of bunting nailed on the wall opposite, her mouth, even as she sang, curved in a subtle line of mockery. A little to her right a Chasseur d'Afrique crushed out an accompaniment on a tinkling piano, which quivered under his merciless hands. A zouave, scarce able to keep his feet, reeled backward and forward, banging out the rhythm of a pair of cymbals—

"Why not, sweetheart?"

"It's too heavy, angel."

In one of the big base hospitals of the army not long ago a new librarian was set to work by the American Library association. She was a very charming young woman, and very anxious to please all the "customers," though some of them didn't even wish to look at a book. In her rounds she approached one of the patients and he declined to be interested in her work. At the next time she stopped and offered its occupant a book.

"What's it about?" the patient asked.

"Oh, this is Bambi," said the librarian. "It's about a girl who married a man without his having anything to say about it."

"Hold on there," shouted the man who had declined all books. He raised himself up on his elbow and reached out his hand. "Give me that book. It's my autobiography."

A farmer's wife in Connecticut, hurrying from milking the cows to the kitchen, from the kitchen to the churn from the churn to the woodshed and back to the kitchen stove, was asked if she wanted to vote. She vehemently replied:

"No, I certainly do not. I say now, if there's one little thing that the man folks can do alone, for heaven's sake let 'em do it."

DANGER AFTER SPANISH INFLUENZA OR GRIPPE

How It Can Be Avoided and Treated. Simple Rules to Be Followed. No Occasion for Panic

No need of anyone being afraid of the after effects and slow recovery from Spanish influenza, hard colds or Grippe, if they will use common sense and start in building up their health and strength the right way.

The main thing is to get the blood rich, red, and pure, so it can carry life-giving oxygen and strength to every part of the body. Impure blood is the cause of so many slow recoveries and set-backs.

Doctors say: "Get the blood right and the rest is easy, that nine-tenths of all sickness is due to lack of iron and phosphates; the healthy strong, vigorous man or woman's blood is always loaded with these two life-giving elements."

Physicians also claim with fresh air and nourishing food nothing equals Phosphated Iron as a blood tonic and health builder. Phosphated Iron takes hold from the first dose. Results are seen and felt; strength returns, food digests, appetite picks up, sleep is restful, there is a color in the cheeks and a sparkle to the eyes that only blood charged with iron and phosphates can give.

It is the duty of everyone who has had Spanish Influenza, Grippe or a hard cold to build up their system with nature's tonic, Phosphated Iron. It sure is health protection. Safely first. The results will repay you many times. Give yourself a show. Special notice: To insure doctors and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules. Do not take pills or tablets. Insist on capsules.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Oct. 1878.—John Wignat has opened a store in Smith & Jackman's block East Milwaukee street, one door west of Main. He has purchased an entirely new stock of goods and his store will be in the best of shape and ready for opening. He is well known in the city and will doubtless be a good patronage.

One of the most successful and enthusiastic meetings of the year was last night at the church in Stephenville. Mr. Soden presided and Philip Norcross and E. M. Hyzer gave addresses. The gathering was a large one and from the beginning to close the most encouraging cheers were given to the points made by the speakers. All present at the meeting pronounce it the best ever held.

The new chapel of Trinity Episcopal church is ready for occupancy. It is a fine room, forty by sixty feet and is to be used for Sunday school purposes. The building will prove a great convenience in many respects. The cost was about $500. The good people of Trinity church are determined to spare no pains to make their place of worship commodious and attractive. Besides mending the church and building the chapel they are now putting some repairs on the outside and making a firmer foundation for the tower.

Her Hard Duty
(Great Inventions Series)
"Shut up!" bellowed Iron Mug ferociously, as he dragged the howling Screech-Owl over the rocks.
"Your hub's no bloomin' scraggy I can hardly get a good hold," grumbled Iron Mug, as he thoughtfully gave an extra jerk to lift her over the rocks as he jumped them.
"Anyway, if you don't stop that yelling I'll fling you into the crater!" yelled Screech-Owl into the void, and with a few more gentle jerks and yanks he had her in his newly furnished cave.
It was a nice cave. A big flat rock served as a table, while here and there a hollowed-out tonylulous tooth held bunches of wild sprigulous.
As soon as Screech-Owl saw these pretty posies in ivory cases, she was glad Iron Mug had knocked her unconscious and brought her there.
After a final subduing blow, Iron Mug left her and started out after some meat for breakfast.
At noon, the sun was high in the heavens and Screech-Owl began to feel the pangs of hunger with her other pains, so seeing some round bulks of clay, she let them lay in the sun to bake and see what would happen to them.
Along toward evening, Iron Mug came home tired and angry and with even a mustard loin or a dinosaur steak to show for a day's hunting.
Just as he was about to slam her one, Screech-Owl picked up the two baked Edgerton, Oct. 24.—Lowell Slagg was at Madison, yesterday and took an examination which, if he passes, will admit him to West Point Military Academy.

William Nichol and family wish to thank their kind friends and neighbors for the kind assistance tendered during the sickness and death of the daughter, Anna, and for the beautiful floral offerings.

Maurice Hithcock left Madison, yesterday for Shelby, Miss., where he will enter one of Uncle Sam's cannoniers.

Word comes to the city of the arrival of a baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Omen at Stoughton. Mrs. Omen was formerly Miss Leo Greenwood of this city.

During a recent damp spell Harold Peters stripped the leaves from a lath of tobacco, and the leaves weighed two pounds. He sold his crop for 35 cents a pound.

The prevailing damp weather will greatly aid in the curing of the hanging tobacco crop, and after a good freeze the crop will be in condition to take down and strip.

The remains of Joseph Ainsley were shipped to Paupack, Penn., this morning. His mother accompanied the remains. Mr. Ainsley was employed at the Amos Buntling farm, north of the city and died with pneumonia, which developed from influenza.

Rush Wentworth of Grant, Wis., is visiting at the home of his father in the city.

Tells of Experience.
Green Bay.—Crawling for five miles along a road and through open country which was under constant shell fire after he was wounded, was the experience of Lieut. Donald Vaughn, according to information received in a letter from France, dated Sept. 23. When nearly exhausted, he reached an ambulance. A trip of twenty miles in the ambulance brought the officer to a hospital where he is recovering. It was after Lieut. Vaughn had stormed and taken a German dugout that the Green Bay officer was wounded. A whizz-bang burst over the dugout and inflicted a severe wound in his back.

the High-Water-Mark

A tablespoonful of Climalene in the bath makes fine soft water, leaving no high-water mark. Then a little or damp cloth cleans the tub perfectly. Try it and you'll never be satisfied with a hard water bath afterward.
